PRESENTER:
S. Dawn Nothwehr, O.S.F.

We are faced with many choices each day. As followers of Christ, we want our faith to guide us in these decisions. This Institute will be the first in a series on the making of moral decisions, and the moral issues which face us today. Sister Dawn Nothwehr will introduce us to basic principles of moral decision making and apply these to the ecological issues that we face today.

S. Dawn is the Professor of Catholic Theological Ethics and Director of the Certificate Program in Healthcare Mission Leadership at Catholic Theological Union of Chicago. She holds a Ph.D. from Marquette University. Her current area of research is global climate change and environmental ethics. S. Dawn is a member of the Sisters of St. Francis, Rochester, Minnesota.
